Witte's H-E-B Science Treehouse Features New Game of Action

SAN ANTONIO—Visitors to the Witte Museum's popular H-E-B Science Treehouse can now play with the newest addition, Move It! A Game of Action. This new interactive light-space station focuses on wellness and physical activity through a 10' x 10' lighted gaming floor. Visitors can enjoy the game individually or compete with others in various games of action.

Through weight sensory technology, Move It! features nine game choices—all geared towards getting the mind and body up and moving. Guests can choose from Dodgeball, Memory Buster, Musical Squares, Jump Style, Dance Off, Hyperstep, Force Field, Music Maker or Color Field. High scores are logged and players are encouraged to track their points and continually try to improve.

This state-of-the-art gaming system allows visitors to set a course for action to live a better and healthier lifestyle, while engaging visitors and creating an interactive community.

Move It! is generously supported by H-E-B and Witte Museum members who contributed to the 2009 Witte Society Phonathon. The H-E-B Science Treehouse and Move It! are included with museum admission. For more information call 210.357.1900 or visit www.wittemuseum.org.
