WITTE MUSEUM

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

LAST CHANCE!

Final Weeks of Our Body: The Universe Within

SAN ANTONIO—Don't miss the last chance to see the blockbuster exhibition Our Body: The Universe Within at the Witte Museum, closing May 26. Our Body has been an overwhelming success, attracting 100,000 visitors to date since opening on January 26, and breaking numerous attendance records for the Witte Museum—including more than 27,000 visitors during Spring Break and more than 6,700 visitors on the Tuesday of Spring Break alone.

Time is running out for this once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to encounter the intricate design of the human body's form and function in an up-close, scientific, compelling and dignified display of 18 human bodies and 100 anatomical specimens. The Witte Museum is extending operating hours May 16-26 until 8 p.m. to accommodate last-minute visitors.

In an effort to fulfill the desire to learn more about our very existence, more than 22 million people have been compelled to visit this or similar human body exhibits in major cities worldwide—from London to Beijing to New York. The goal of this exhibit is for exhibit-goers to leave with a deeper understanding of the body's complicated systems and a stronger appreciation of the uniqueness of each of our individual bodies.

There is a $13 surcharge in addition to museum general admission for Our Body: The Universe Within. Avoid the lines, go online! Tickets may be purchased at www.wittemuseum.org. For more information call 210.357.1910.

Our Body: The Universe Within is generously supported by Time Warner Cable, Aetna and Mission Pharmacal.
